Through The Years

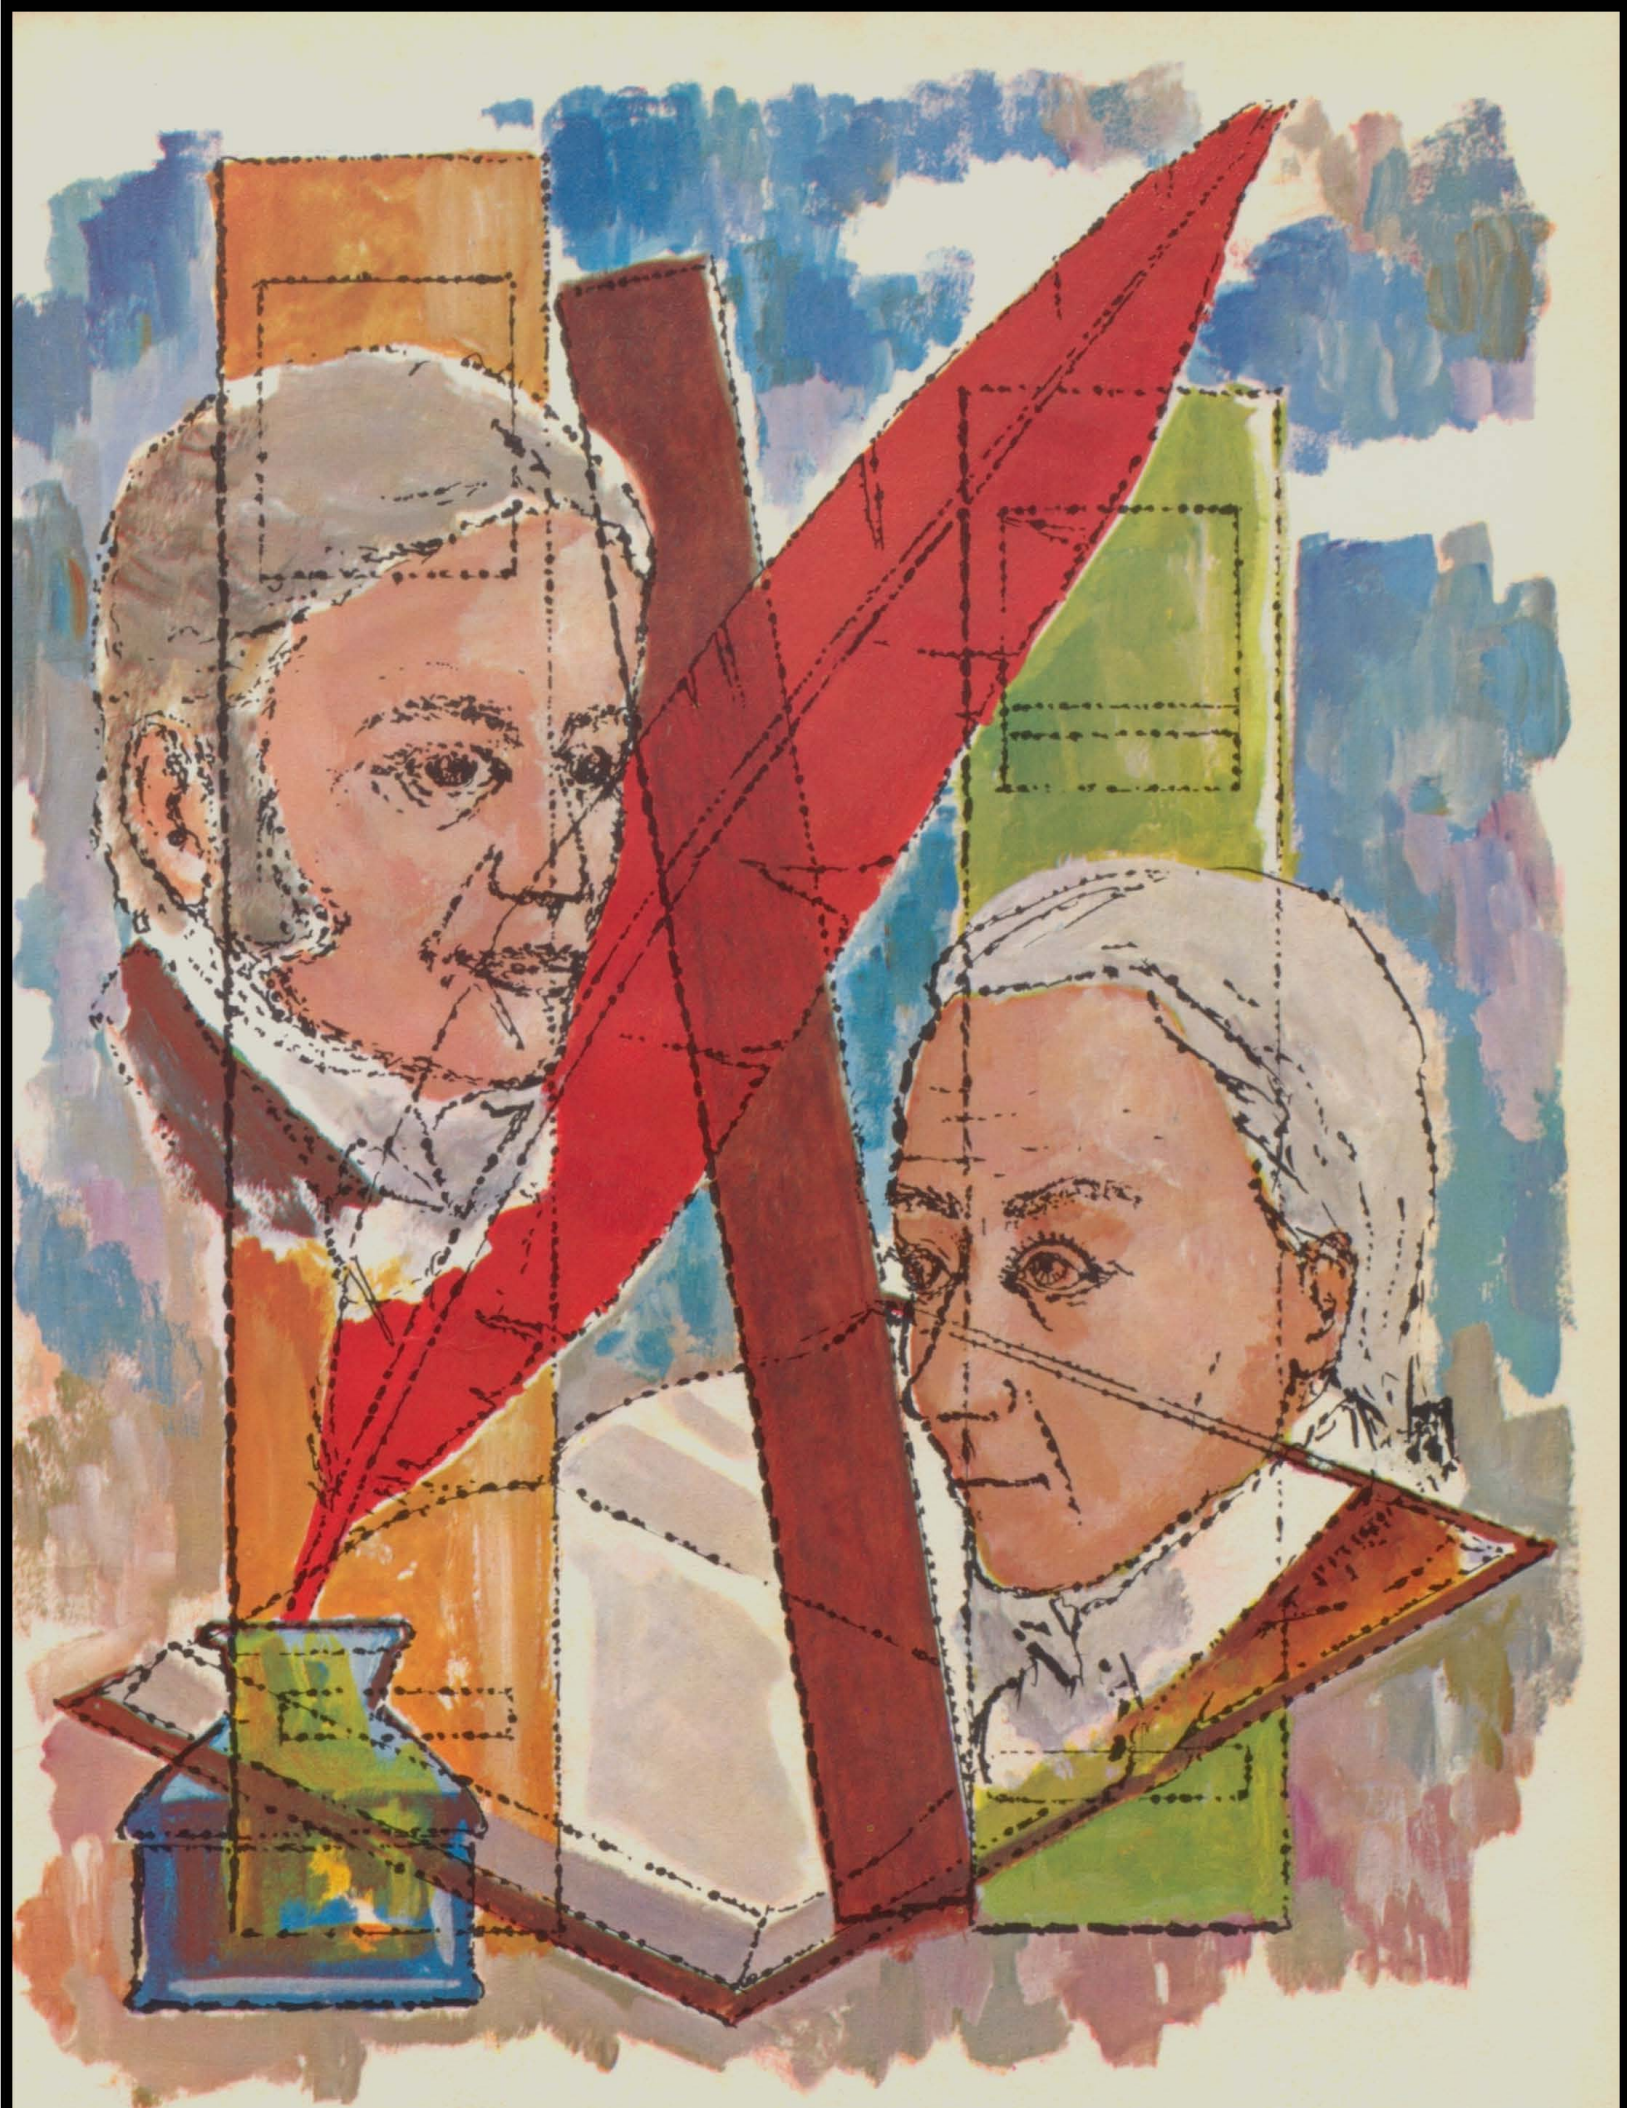

EX LIBRIS

Dedication

We the class of 1967 dedicate our yearbook to Dick Hubbard who by showing interest in our school activities has helped the student body in many ways. Through his generous and loyal support he has set a good example for all to follow.

In Memoriam

The class of 1967 dedicates this page of the yearbook as a reminder of the infinite hours Marion Hubbard spent in helping the schools and the community.

p r o m

Among the numerous successes of the Senior Class was our spectacular Prom, "In Apple Blossom Time". The highlight of the evening was the crowning of the king and queen. The royal couple were Betty Kinsley and Lynn Hill, crowned by Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Lary. The other reigning couple was Principal and Mrs. Robert Leister who were celebrating their thirteenth wedding anniversary.

P O E M

We stormed the place in '63,
With heights from 6'2" to 5'3".
At 6'2" was Eells, Brew,
And 5'3" was Wilber, P.
As freshmen we were big and dumb,
At the head of the class was Lary Bum.

With heifer dust from dawn to day,
But not complaining is Winston, A.
Broad at the shoulder and broader at the hip,
Is Diane Delorm who takes no lip.
When the good Lord created Severy, J.,
Mother Nature had quite a holiday.
The chick of the class is Rogers, M.,
The fellows think she's a pretty good hen.
Sharon Comes just bought a net,
We gave you a warning, so don't get wet.
Our garden variety is Fabian Reed,
You never see him without a weed.
Driver of the class is Steven C.,
How he got his license sure beats me.
With Dudley L. there's heck to pay,
For he changes women from day to day.
First in the class of senior math,
Is Jackie K. she's sure to pass.
Next in line is Deborah D.,
Quite a horseman you'll agree.
Linda H. is soon to wed,
She's the one who's known as Red.
Cheryl, the slowest bluestreak around,
Drives all day without leaving town,
Donna S. is really sweet
Like Halloween she's trick or treat!
Over the hill like a crazy fiend
Goes Raymond G. with his snow machine!

Gilda Foley is quiet and shy
With a class like ours we don't know why!
Raymond C. is the class athlete

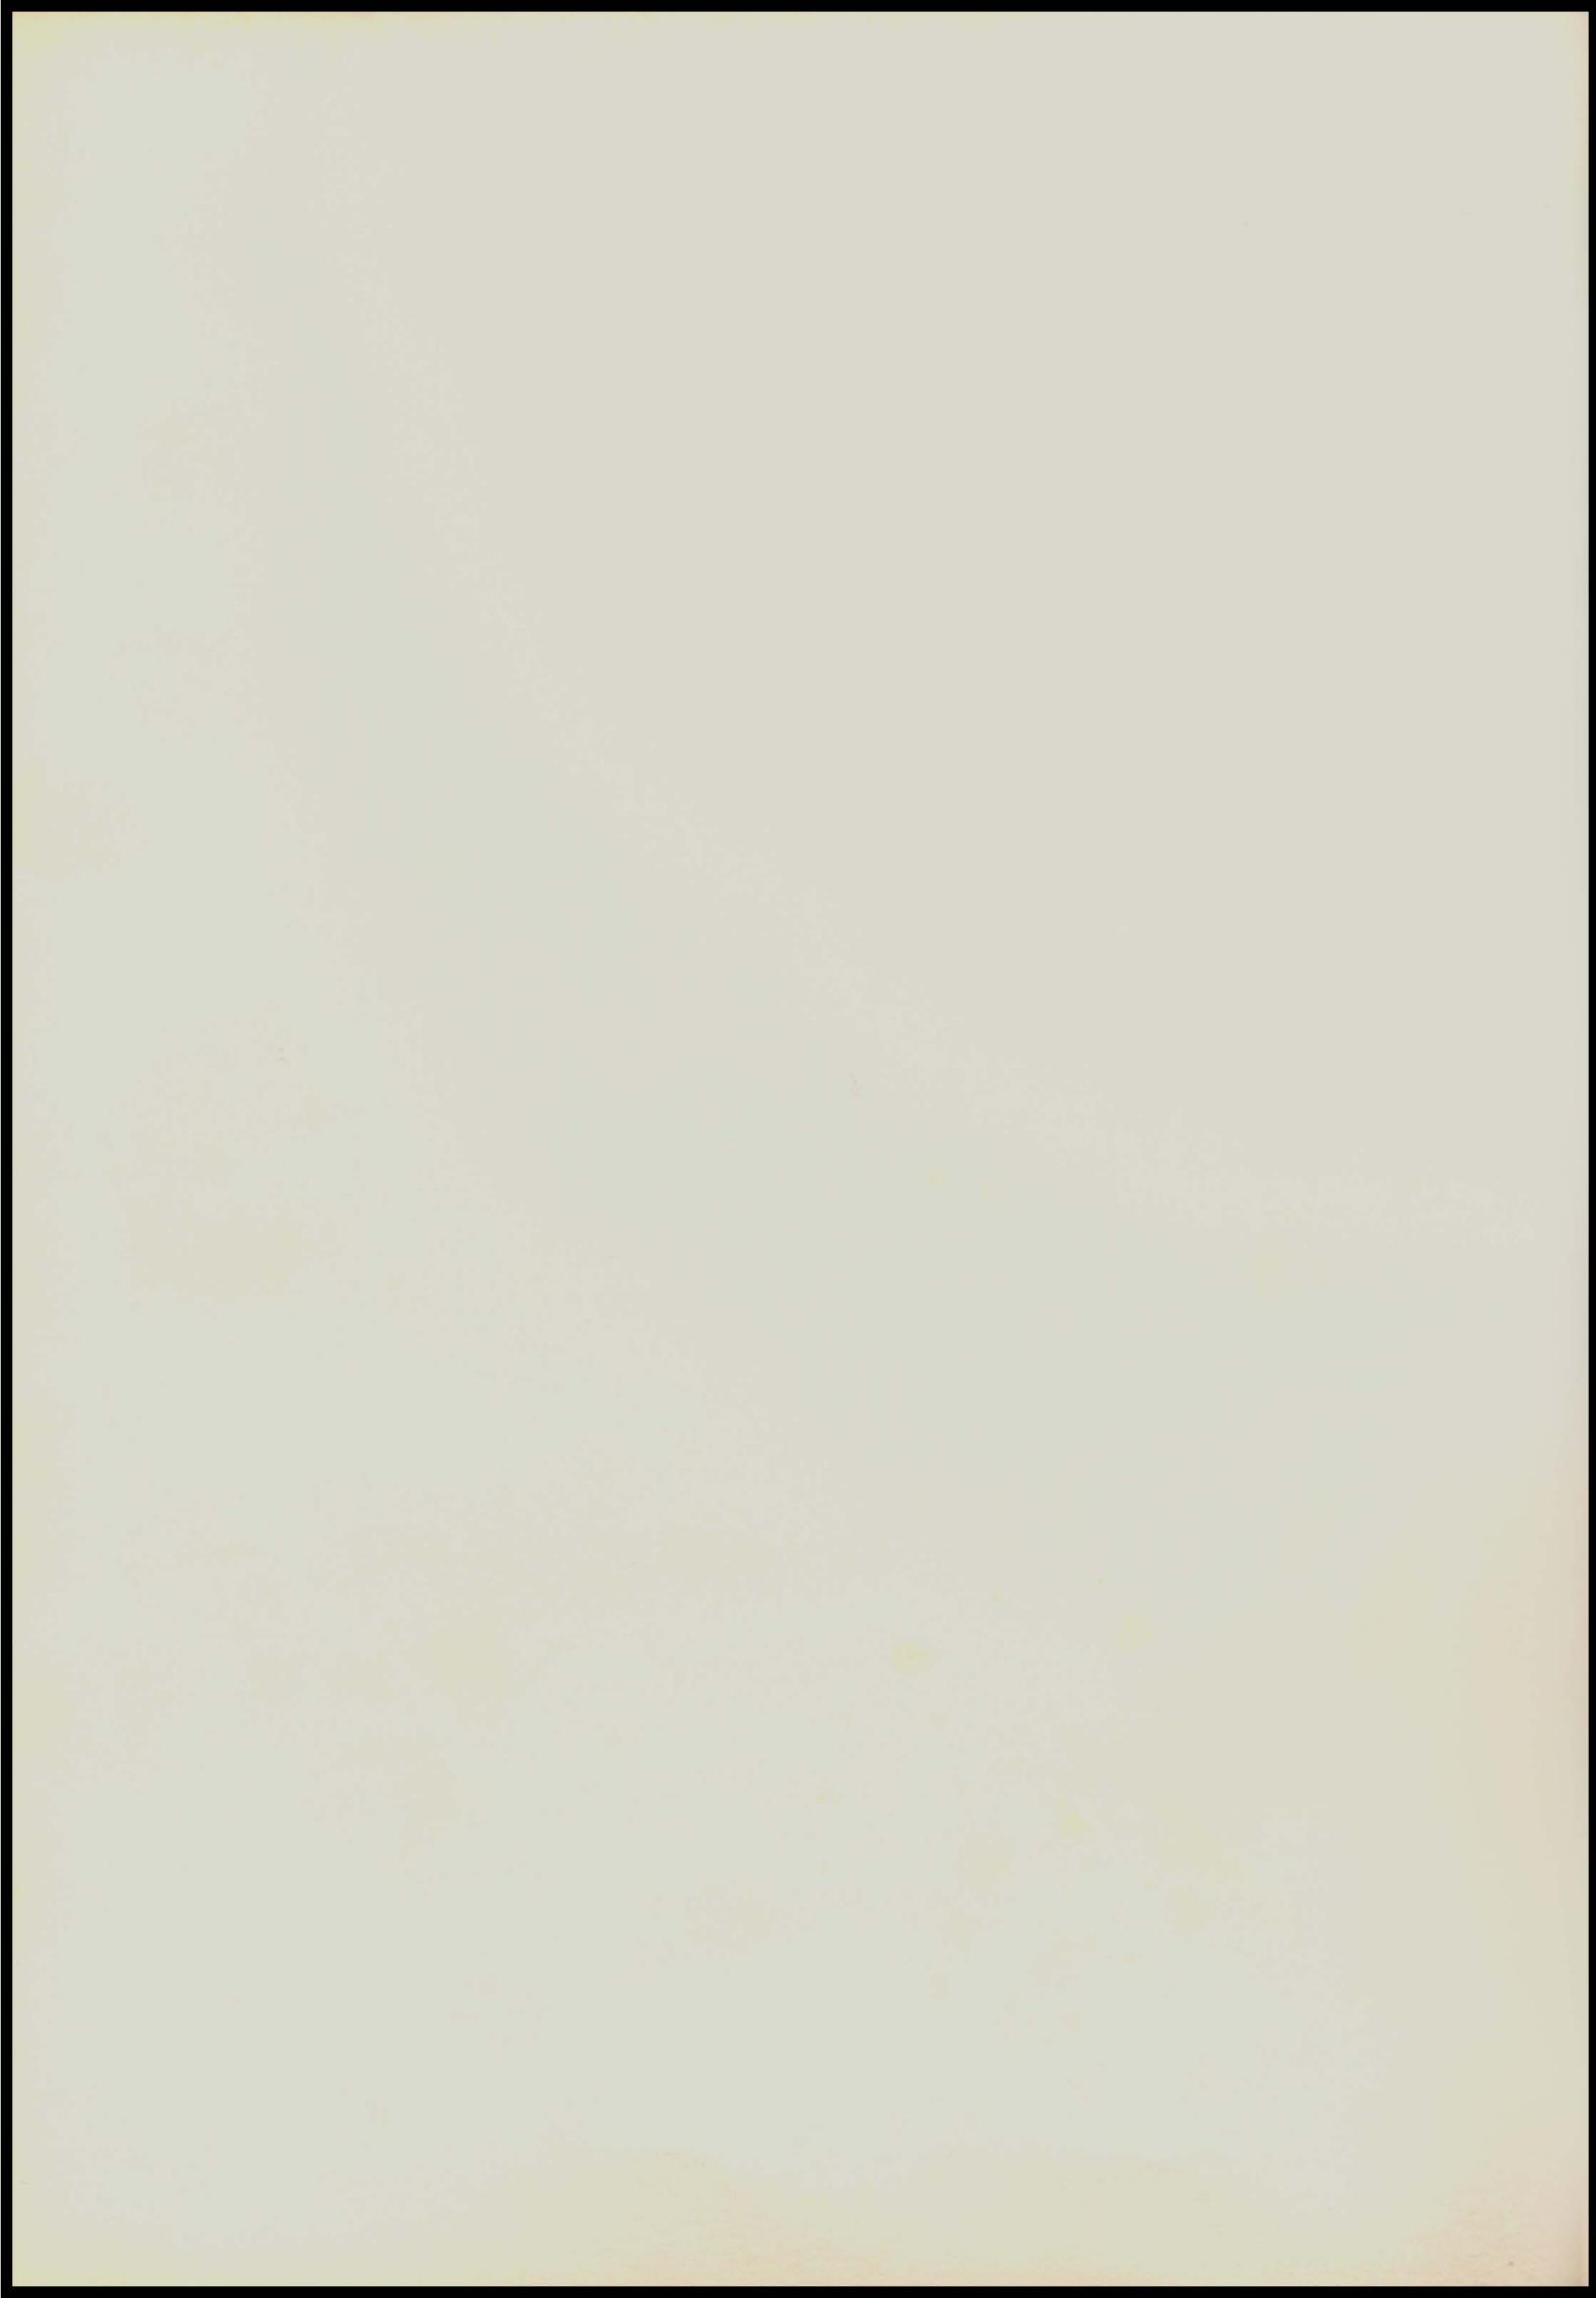

You'll find in sports he's hard to beat.

This is the tale of '67
Do you think you'll find us all in Heaven?

A Look to the Past

In 1963, twenty-two little freshmen came to Rochester High to make their mark and try to get an education. The first week that we were here was quite different from what it had been for freshmen before. This year's graduating class was the first to participate in the Junior High program as the eighth grade. As a result of this, we were less confused about which building the lab was in, and when do we go to lunch. The twenty-two bold freshmen were: Winston Ainsworth, Raymond Carter, Beverly Comes, Sharon Comes, Steve Curtis, Debbie Darrah, Diane Delorm, Bruce Eells, Jack Foley, Gilda Foley, Ray Gendron, Linda Hutchins, Cheryl Jesso, Jackie Kinsley, Larry Laffan, Fabian Reed; also Margaret Rogers, Donna Severy, Janice Severy, Larry Stone, Lois Watters, and Patty Wilber.

At the beginning of our Sophomore year, we lost Jack Foley and Linda Hutchins, but we gained Margaret Gendron, and Dudley Leavitt so we still numbered twenty-two. Our tenth grade was a big year. The Rochester High Basketball team went as far as the semifinals, where we were defeated by Johnson, by two points.

The rings we received during our Sophomore year caused a lot of fire between the students. We had debates in front of assembly and tempers were high. The matter at hand was whether we should have the rings with stones in them or not. When it came to a final vote, the rings with stones were voted out, our tradition was upheld.

The high point of our Junior year was putting on the prom. We made more money than any class in the history of the school. Theme: In Apple Blossom Time.

This year we gained back Linda Hutchins, but lost Margaret Gendron and therefore remained at twenty-two. After the graduation of twenty-seven seniors, the school had a good chance of getting back to normal.

We started off our Senior year with the loss of three seniors, Larry Stone, Lois Watters, and Bev Comes, which made our count nineteen. As we count the days left in our High School careers, we again put more trophies on the shelf. This was our second year of soccer and we took second place in the Central Vermont League. The greatest accomplishment during our Senior year was that we produced the best yearbook in the history of Rochester High. And so ends the story of the class of 1967.

Now it's Spring of 1987, and the class of 1967 is having a reunion in Stockholm, Sweden, at a castle owned by Miss White and Miss Kamens.

Donna Severy is here trying to set up a plant for the Honda Company (she being the president of Honda's you know.)

Patty Wilber is secretary to the President of the United States, and Uncle Sam gave her a week off.

Jackie Kinsley is a nurse and has stopped off in Sweden on her way to Nationalist China.

Lary Laffan has completed his rigid course in Rice Planting 101 at Saigon University; now he's headed back to Stan's Gulf.

Steve Curtis owns a dragster and he just arrived looking for directions to Daytona.

Cheryl Jesso married the Mayor of New City and she's over here on business.

Ray Gendron, a senior at R.H.S., hopes to complete his High School career this June, class of 1987.

Fabian Reed is a fig plucker, and he's over here looking for a job.

Margaret Rogers will be a couple days late as usual. We'll find out what she is doing when she gets here.

Janice Severy, who is a motor cycle racer, is here in Sweden for the big race next week.

Gilda Foley owns a Mod Fashion Shop in Paris, and she's up here trying to sell clothes to Miss Kamens.

Sharon Comes is a chamber maid in Miss White's castle, trying to earn money enough to get home.

Ray Carter drives a beer truck in the Virgin Islands, and he has brought up a load for the reunion.

Debbie Darrah is over here erecting sky scrapers, for the first time without a ladder.

Linda Hutchins has finally succeeded in making post holes, and she just brought over a shipment.

Bruce Eells has amounted to nothing just like we all figured he would. He lost his first million five years ago.

Dudley Leavitt is playing bass guitar for the Rolling Stones, and they are going to play for our reunion.

Buddy Ainsworth is a worker in the Peace Corps, and he has flown in from Guam.

Diane Delorm is a model in Paris now, and we're sure glad to see her again.

Last Will and Testament

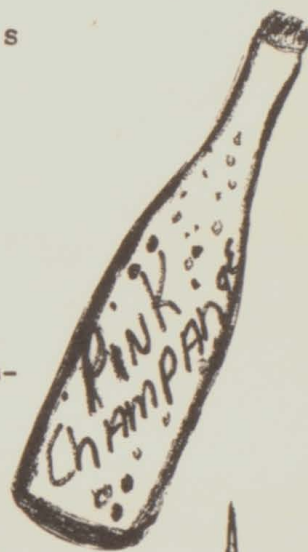

Steve Curtis wills his study hall candy to anyone who thinks that they can eat it without getting caught.

Debbie Darrah wills her horse to Rob Deering: he's easier to keep on the road.

Dudley Leavitt wills his Beatle wig to Mr. Lary, so he can look just like his beloved idols.

Linda Hutchins wills what's left of her pink champagne to Gail Gage, "Careful Gail, don't sniff the cork."

Lary Laffan wills his job as fire keeper to Louis Donnet, because he needs the extra smokes.

Donna Severy wills to the French lab her Beach Boy Albums, so you can really swing.

Ray Gendron wills his ability to run, to Bullet Bob and Puny Pollock so they can brag.

Patty Wilber wills her ability to dance to Mr. Leister "Practice makes perfect." Good Luck!

Ray Carter wills his date book for PJ parties to any good electrician.

Winston Ainsworth wills his car to the sophomore girls who don't like to walk.

Fabian Reed wills his ability to get moved in English class to Harvey Downs.

Janice Severy wills her ability to giggle to Miss White---Try making use of it.

Sharon Comes wills her car keys to Gay Hill; now you can follow Dudley next year.

Jackie Kinsley wills her Senior Math book to anyone who wants a good headache.

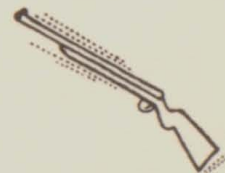

Cheryl Jesso wills her skis to anyone foolish enough to want them.

Diane Delorm wills her babysitting job to Gail Gage; now you will have someone to keep you company on these lonely nights.

Gilda Foley wills her typewriter to Jane Cantell who just loves to type. Be careful with it, Jane.

Margaret Rogers wills her yo-yo to Mr. Davis.

Bruce Eells wills Mike Rogers a double-barrel shotgun to hold off the truant officer.
